Shipping

Bessell, Sugar Laden, Surrounded by Ice Pack. Sailing from Kahului with six thousand tons sugar, the American ship Edward Bessell, which a few weeks ago reached destination on the east coast of the United States, spent many days surrounded by bergs and vast fields of ice in the Antarctic.

The story of the long and perilous voyage of the Bessell, with the shipment of Hawaiian sugar, is a graphic one as related by advices received here from the coast. The big Bessell, which has made many trips around the Horn, passed through three seasons on this voyage.

On the last trip of the sailor, Captain Quill was accompanied by his wife and children. Between ice packs and hurricanes the voyage was in every way anything but monotonous.

Health Resorts in Electric Cables. A much needed and important addition to Manilla's harbor facilities is the installation of electric traveling hoists on the government docks in the new post district.

Steamer Speed Through Pine Weather. Favorable weather between San Francisco and Honolulu is reported through wireless messages received last week from four trans-Pacific liners now steaming between the coast and the islands.

Too Much Sugar to Suit Crew. Claiming that she was loaded too heavily for safety, the crew of the Lord Derby, the British steamer that brought sugar from Java to Vancouver a couple of months ago, refused to go to sea in her when she cast off at her wharf in Seattle a couple of days ago.

Promises Sailed for Phosphate Islands. For the phosphate beds in the South Seas, the Norwegian steamer Promise sailed for Malakata last evening after having been discharged of 1100 tons fertilizer material.

Coal Famine Threatened on the Coast. Prospects of a coal famine along the Pacific Coast have begun to give shipping interests no little concern, particularly time charterers of tramp steamers.

Meana Played a Return Engagement. After an absence of several years, the Royal Mail liner Meana of the Union Steamship Company, arrived at San Francisco on October 3 from Australia and New Zealand via the South Sea Islands ports of call of Raratonga and Papeete.

CALDWELL MAKES ANSWER TO 'KALAU'

Clerk Kalkaukalan, in his own office, yesterday afternoon made known to Mayor Fern, in the presence of a Star-Bulletin reporter, a grievance and a complaint against the road department. He stated that material from the Kalaheena avenue reconstruction work was being hauled to the land of Percy M. Pond for filling in purposes, contrary to the directions of the board of supervisors that the debris be used for erosion for Kalaheena, Dole street and other thoroughfares.

There are six inches of material below the top of the curb to be removed, and we haven't to shoot it but simply to carry it. At one place there are ten inches to be cut out, where three roads have been built one on top of another.

There is an abundance of the material for all the purposes named by the board. We are doing all our excavating there by machinery. "I may say that we are repairing the avenue from the John E. Lee road out past the Meana Hotel at a cost of only three cents a square yard."

DEPARTS THROUGH CHINA'S DECKS

Sixty Chinese who are steerage passengers in the Pacific Mail liner China enroute to the Far East, are objects of more than ordinary interest to Federal officials stationed here, owing to the fact that sixty departed orientals are being returned to their native heath as passengers in the steamer that is remaining at the port of Honolulu today.

Mr. M. S. S. China—Enroute from San Francisco, 3 p. m., 213 miles from Honolulu; will arrive at half-past nine o'clock Friday morning and sail Saturday morning at ten o'clock.

Mr. M. S. S. Wilhelm—Enroute to San Francisco, 5 p. m., 493 miles from Honolulu; fresh wind from north; sea moderate; all well.

Mr. O. S. Sierra—Enroute from San Francisco, 5 p. m., 493 miles from Honolulu; fresh wind from north; sea moderate; all well.
